The inspection date of 16 September 2014 the overall effectiveness of good - the early years of good provision - the effectiveness of leadership and good management of the Office of Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regularly inspects schools - please check here for ofsted's latest report. With 452 pupils, The Great Side Primary School is significantly higher than the average number of pupils in the UK. The school mostly includes male students, with 52% boys and only 48% girls. It is important that schools closely keep a close look at attendance records, try and reduce absentee insistence. The attendance rate of 97.2% of schools is extremely high, well above average for the country. Newtside Primary School has 16.9 staff members, significantly above average. The 27:1 teacher-to-pupil ratio for this school may make it difficult for the teacher to pay attention to the concerns of individual students. KS2 offers all parties, including the government, parents, school teachers and Ofsted, the opportunity to reliably assess students' academic attainment in the final year of their primary school. The average KS2 score of 102 for school is lower than the national average. The figure below the average is £36,278 paid to school teachers. At Great Side Primary School, 93.4% of students speak English as a first language, which is in line with the country's warage. After a detailed warning period they conducted a thorough review of the entire school. Inspectors sit in classes and assess each teacher's teaching ability. They will also evaluate how the current curriculum is run, and how to track each student's progress during their tenure. Each school is graded on a four-point scale: 1 being outstanding, 2 being good, 3 meaning they need improvement, and 4 inadequate symptoms. Those schools reaching outstanding or good degrees may re-inspect for as long as five years; While those receiving lower scores will be reassessed with greater frequency, with little or no notice before the inspectors enter. Tutor Hunt has been operating for more than 15 years, during this time built up a large number of tutors and teachers, and the widest range of tutors and teachers available covering all major academic subjects nationally. The school teacher program aims to help support and enhance the attainment of students through our dedicated and experienced tutor. The only tutor who passes our strict eligibility requirements can join our school teacher program. Given the epidemic, it is likely that disadvantaged and vulnerable groups are more affected. Our tutoring program aims to support this group. Our plan doesn't require subsidies (but it can be supported by an editor's premium) and is priced at around £60-£80 per lycee (per 15 block lessons). Our goal is to help support and enhance the attainment of students through our dedicated and experienced tutor. Our tuition tailored to the needs of our schools through our interactive online whiteboard, our tutor can teach in groups or one by one. More than 100 schools are currently using our program to support edicing and learning. Our tutor underwent a thorough and veterinary training process before being accepted into the school teacher program. Which groups and topics are covered for the year? Our program covers math, English and science from year 1 to year 11. If your school is seeking support with a different subject please contact us to see how we can help. Which schools are covered by our program? The school teacher program is open to all schools without restrictions on the amount of lessons booked. Booking.
